Barbara Parkins--- A Diet of Success

BY DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Barbara Parkins Revisited—I think I was the first newsman to interview Barbara Parkins when Peyton Place started, so I've been curious to see how she has weathered success.

She's changed and she knows it. But she feels the changes are good ones.

"I've become a bit harder," Barbara says, but I think it's a question of a cream puff turning into a sponge cake. "I know my own mind now and I think I have a right to certain things. I wanted a bigger dressing room and I got it, for example."

She says that option time is coming up soon and she's going to ask for more things—unspecified things—"and if I don't get them, I'll walk."

"I don't want to leave the show," she says, "because I would really like to stay with Peyton Place another year or two. I'm 23 now and if I went on my own now, there are not many of the top leading men who are young enough to play opposite me. I'll be better off when I'm 24 or 25, there will be more men available for leads with me."

Her social life has changed, she says. She goes out more, to the upper-Hollywood-crust dinner parties and private screenings. And she gave her first big dinner party recently and cooked the meal herself.

She has moved up from a Mustang to a Jaguar, and she's in the process of buying a house in Benedict Canyon. She's now able to indulge her passion for beautiful clothes.

"I like being famous," she says. "I like people recognizing me. I like having my picture taken."

Physically, she hasn't changed—unless you would say a rosebud changes when it becomes a mature and beautiful rose.

THE PRESIDENT of the Hi-Luster Shoe Shine Co. is back in the movies, and she's as beautiful as ever. In case you're not up on your corporate rosters, the president of the Hi-Luster Shoe Shine Co. works under the name of Joan Caulfield.

When Betty Hutton decided to leave the cast of A. C. Lyles' "Red Tomahawk"—"nervousness" was the reason given—A. C. called for Joan. Years before, they had dated and perhaps that's why he thought of her. It is her first feature film in 3½ years—"I've been busy raising my two sons." But now they are both in school, so she was ready when Lyles' call came.

"I'm back in it now to stay," she says. Joan is one of Hollywood's best businesswomen. It's a trait she inherited from her businessman father. She reads the stock market reports before she reads the movie pages in the newspaper, and that's extreme. In fact, people call her up and ask what "the Golden Girl" is buying—or selling.

Anniversary

RATON, N.M. (AP) — Henry W. Kruger says "a successful marriage requires falling in love many times, always with the same woman."

Kruger, 84, and his wife, Alma, 83, celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary Wednesday.

"My best girl friend is a stock broker," Joan says. "And many times they've asked me to join the firm. But it would be no fun if I were a professional."

It's just a hobby. She's in and out of the market very fast—"With me, 15 minutes is a short term investment, but if I hold the stock a whole day, that's long term."

Another investment is the shoe shine company, which manufactures and installs shoe shine vending machines. She was very excited because she had just managed to get a flock of her machines installed at Hollywood Park race track.

Leave us hope they are near the payoff windows.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Appreciative little Charlie Brown came back to CBS Wednesday night in a moving morality tale of the diamond.

There wasn't a dry eye in my house when his loyal teammates made for him a lovely baseball uniform from Linus' pale blue blanket.

Charlie, sensitive, loyal and foolishly hopeful, and his little friends were first introduced to the television audiences in a special last Christmas. But long before that, artist Charles Schulz had built a legion of friends for the characters in his cartoon strip.

They were all there — musical Schroeder, dirty-Pig-Pen, aggressive Lucy. The story centered on Charlie's team — five boys, three girls and "a dog who can't throw" — which had lost 999 games and won none. Worse, the team was so discouraged and disgusted that the girls and even Snoopy the dog were about to give up baseball for rope-skipping, skate-boarding, even surfing in a plastic pool.

At that point, a store owner offered to put the all-stars into a league and even give them uniforms — but not if there were girls and a dog on the team. They were barred from league play.

Did Charlie abandon his faithful dog and the little girls who were so mean to him? No, sir he quietly spurned the offer, only to suffer a lot more abuse until his loyalty was uncovered.

The tale was spun with charm, heightened by the use of real children's voices for the cartoon characters and a delightful musical score. It was a short program of gentle wit and infinite affection and wisdom.

"Shipwrecked," on NBC's Bob Hope Theater was an odd story about an emotionally disturbed widow and a drunken sailor who found new lives and each other when stranded on a Pacific island paradise.

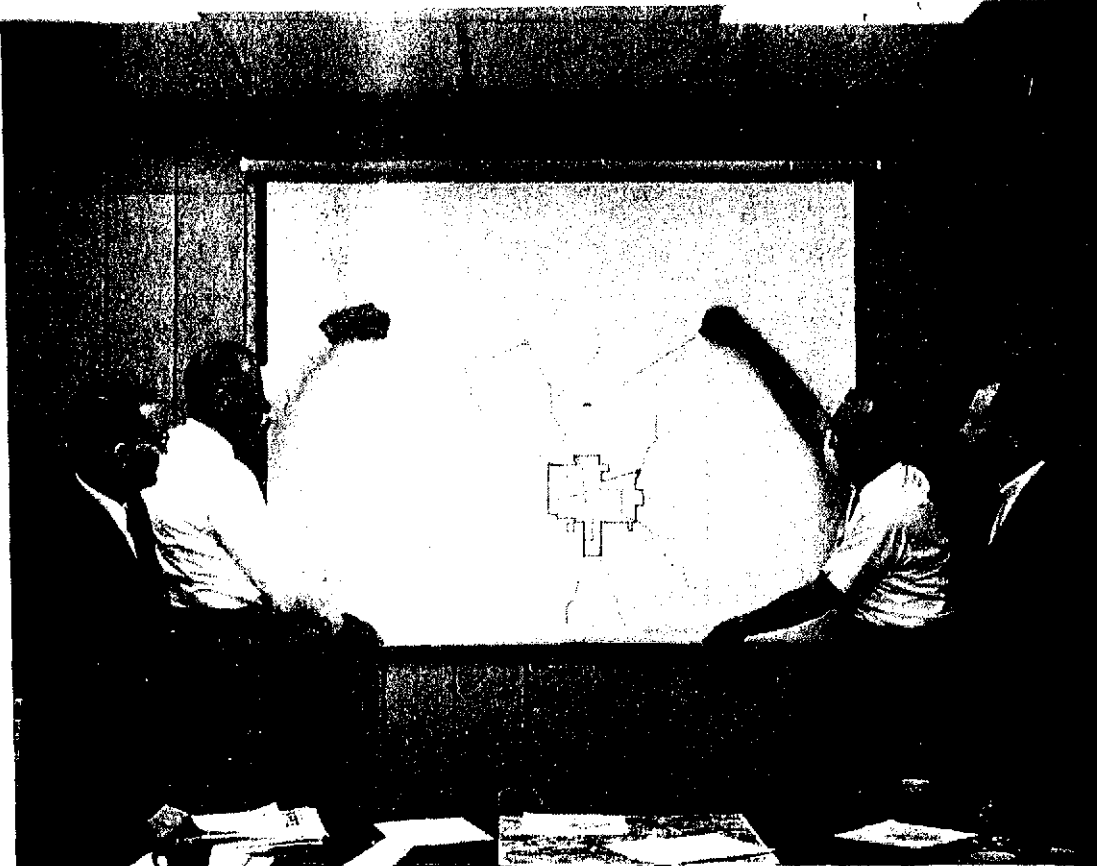

Jason Robards Jr., who played the lerring sailor in the two-character drama, had an actor's field day.

But the script, which at one point had Robards staring toward the sky and bargaining with his creator, seemed pretty far-fetched.

After only 15 weeks, ABC's Confidential for Women dramatic series will call it a day July 8. It will be replaced by another audience participation program called The Newlywed Game on July 11.

The daytime series presented complete dramas. Mostly about emotional problems. In five installments over a week's time, a

I-30 Access Roads Under Study

The Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, at a recent meeting, discussed plans for forming a committee of City and Chamber of Commerce officials to give some study to the access roads from Interstate 30 into downtown Hope. It was announced at the meeting by W. L. Tate, C of C president, that contracts for these roads would be separate from those of the Interstate Highway, and that some planning should be done soon in order to provide the most convenient access from each interchange into town with the least amount of inconvenience and damage to property owners along the route.

"Hope is growing and everything points to the continued growth and development of the area, and we believe that it is most important that we have these plans ready as soon as possible," said Mr. Tate departure from the routine soap opera format. It also had a staff psychiatrist discussing the problem at the end of each program. But the series failed to make a dent in the popularity of competing programs, particularly Password.

Agreement Ends Strike of Firemen

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A late-hour agreement between the city and the union Thursday night ended a three-day strike by more than 500 Atlanta firemen.

A jubilant fire fighter said, "It's a thumbs up situation, all systems go."

The firemen were returning to work immediately today as soon as they were notified of the agreement. The settlement was reached in Mayor Ivan Allen's City Hall office after a frustrating day of messages between the city and the Atlanta Fire Fighters Union Independent.

Relieved city officials no longer had to face a weekend of fire protection provided by 177 regular firemen and about 450 employees from other city departments.

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Sinfonia Rivera smoked five cigars a day. She drank whisky by the water glass, too, but cut that down to "weekend parties only."

Mrs. Rivera died Thursday at St. Elizabeth's hospital at the age of 116.

PLAYGROUND ACROBATICS By Dr. Charles Johnson

Playground acrobatics injure millions of children every year. Many of these accidents cause displacements in the vertebrae of the neck and back which place pressure on delicate nerve trunks, thus creating nerve interference that can cause great distress to the body's normal function.

If your child should be a victim of any accident, call your family Chiropractor immediately for spine and nerve check to help your child regain his normal activity. "Presented as a public service for better health by The Johnson Chiropractic Clinic, 901 S. Main St., Hope, Ark. Phone PR 7-5353."

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How does a movie go two or three million dollars over budget?

In the case of "The Sand Pebbles," it was easy: Send a cast and crew of 135 across the Pacific Ocean, subject them to the vagaries of Orient weather and tides plus a scramble of languages. Before long you've got a movie costing $1 million.

It should be added that the sponsoring company, 20th Century-Fox displays no signs of panic. President Darryl F. Zanuck told me of the film's travails last month in Paris, but he seemed not overly annoyed. The reason could well be that "The Sand Pebbles" is being produced and directed by Robert Wise, who provided Fox with its all-time blockbuster, "The Sound of Music."

The weary Wise is now back shooting on the Westwood lot after four months of filming in Taiwan and Hong Kong — twice as long as he had expected. The company, which is headed by Steve McQueen, Richard Attenborough, Richard Crenna and Candy Bergen, hopes to finish late next month. Filming started Nov. 22.

"Fifty to 60 per cent of our delay was due to weather," explained Wise. "Another element was working with boats; they aren't as maneuverable as actors, especially when you're dealing with unpredictable tides."

"And the language barrier inevitably slowed us down. We had good interpreters, but even they couldn't deal with the many dialects. They would give instructions to the junk crews in Mandarin, then we'd wonder why the boats didn't follow directions. We would find out later in the day that the crews could only understand Taiwanese."

Most of the location filming took place at Taiwan, with additional river scenes near Hong Kong. This meant breaking in a new Chinese crew to augment the Hollywood specialists; the changeover brought more delay.

Wise said he was afraid to ask what the latest cost of "The Sand Pebbles" is, but he suspected the film has gone 2 or 3 million over its original $8 million budget.

"But I have no regrets," he added. "There is no other place in the world where we could have gotten the numbers of people and the looks of the people to reproduce China on the screen. This picture is expensive and expansive, but I hope it will all be worth it."

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

He Placed at Henpeck Title

Dear Helen: Please settle an argument for us. Does it mean husband is "henpecked" if he asks his wife if she cares, when he is invited to go someplace by the men at his office?

I say it is being inconsiderate if he doesn't ask her. After all, she might have other plans. Mine used to, but the guys at work told him he was henpecked, so he quit and just goes. What do you say? — The Old Hen

Dear Hen: I'm with YOU. A considerate husband clears an invitation with his wife; a henpecked husband doesn't dare.

Those office roosters either have plucked hens at home, or else they're all crow, not much "go". — H.

Dear Helen: Your poem on th dread of housework is great and I'm sure it's the sentiment of every housewife around.

Things got pretty hectic at our house for that very reason — I just couldn't get going. So I sat down surveyed the jobs at hand, and wrote everything that had to be done on a piece of paper. Then I figured out about how long each job would take, and put the time next to the job. Gave myself 5 or an extra minutes to insure thoroughness.

This scheduling took about 5 minutes, but the time saved was worth it. I wasn't running hither skelter trying to get everything done — and when it's down on paper, waiting for you to cross off, half the battle is won. — Organized

Dear Organized: Welcome to the club! I do this on everything from ironing to hitting the weekly deadline, and when I end the day with all cross-outs I feel like Samson in a Beale cut. — H.

Open Letter to Girl Watcher
Dear Helen: To "Girl Watcher", Please have pity. I would like very much to wear my skirts at knee length or longer, but you and so many people do not seem to be aware of the absolute tyranny of the fashion world.

When the moguls dictat eshort skirts, the dress manufacturers stop making anything else. When the word goes out that Millady shall cram her toes into medieval torture devices, try and find a shoe that fits a human foot.

Recently one kindly designer declared that he saves people like me from Limbo by offering dresses for the mature woman that would not bankrupt her husband: with prices STARTING at $165.00.

Even patterns for homemade clothes slavishly follow the trends. I have spent a wezry lifetime being called an oddball for trying to dress to please myself and my husband. You know something, Helen. After a while it gets TO you! — Youthful Grandma, Age 40.

Dear Helen: We have friends — in their 40's — who have lived in the same house for several years. They have never been legally married, and want to be. But all the marriage licenses come out in the paper. Even if they go to some other town, friends are liable to see. Could they go to Mexico? — Mrs. X.

Dear Mrs. X: They may go to their own minister who will arrange for an unpublicized wedding. Almost any clergyman can tell you how common-law marriages are legalized without newspaper notice. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star.

Twins Almost Set New Home Run Record

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Minnesota Twins trailed Kansas City 4-3 in the seventh inning when suddenly Rich Rollins homered. Then Zoilo Versalles homered, and Tony Oliva, and Don Micher, and Harmon Killebrew.

That brought up Jimmie Hall with a chance to set a major league record for most homers in one game.

"I knew about the record," said Hall. "The announcer told everyone that we had tied the record when I was standing in the batter's box. It upset me a little. I know if I was the pitcher, I'd be bearing down that much more."

Hall eventually lashed a pitch that hit high off the fence — and settled for a double.

"I'm going to fine Hall $100. for breaking up rally," laughed Minnesota Manager Sam Mele, who hasn't had too much opportunity to do that this season.

Despite the homer hammering and the 9-4 victory, Mele's defending American League champions still are in sixth place — three games under the .500 mark and nine games behind front-running Baltimore.

While the Twins still were trying to reach the first division the Orioles took over first place from Cleveland by beating Washington twice while the Indians and New York Yankees were rained out.

Baltimore won a game that had been suspended Wednesday night, 8-6, and then came back for a 4-2 victory in the regularly scheduled game. In the only other American League game played, Detroit battered Boston 9-1.

Court Ponders Baseball Anti Trust Case

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin Supreme Court justices keystone of the state's antitrust laws have poked and prodded at the ed for another day to decide rule in early July on the National League's appeal to a circuit court decision finding the game in violation of Wisconsin antitrust law for stripping Milwaukee of its only major league team. The court heard the appeal Thursday.

Athletic Group Yells Sabotage at AAU Threat

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — The U. S. Track and Field Federation howled sabotage and opened its fourth national championship today in defiance of a last minute threat of Amateur Athletic Union reprisal against athletes participating in what the AAU called "an unsanctioned meet."

The AAU threw a bombshell Thursday night into the two-day USATF meet, which lured more than 300 athletes, including America's top miler Jim Ryun, to Indiana State University's asphalt track.

It was a dictum by AAU President Clifford Buck that unless the NCAA-backed Federation applied for an AAU sanction all athletes competing here would be ineligible for the National AAU Championships in New York June 25-26.

The AAU meet will determine the selection of the U. S. team to compete against the Russians in Los Angeles July 23-24.

Chick Werner, the Federation's executive director, declared that Buck's action was "an obvious attempt to sabotage the Federation meet by the manner in which it was suddenly initiated."

And Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said in Kansas City "that the statement attributed to Mr. Buck and the AAU is incredible and the timing makes its motivation most suspect."

Federation leaders contended that the AAU got its facts twisted in interpretation of the guideline set by a government five-man panel appointed by Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

"Buck's action violated the basic agreement in the AAU-NCAA amnesty that there would be no penalizing of athletes during negotiations," said Werner. Byers declared, "it is a clear and unmistakable violation of the most important basic intent of the senate moratorium which is to permit complete freedom of competition and to set aside all penalties against competing athletes. The Federation championship is for USTFF members only and requires no AAU sanction. It never has had one during the four previous years of its existence on the comparable weekend each year."

Federation coaches took a somewhat attitude towards the latest outbreak in the lengthy battle between the AAU and the NCAA which seems to be immune to federal peace-making.

Kansas Coach Bob Timmons said Ryun, his 19-year-old star freshman, "came here to run and he will run."

The brilliant Ryun last week ran the mile only one-tenth of a second slower than the world record of 3:53.6 held by Michel Jazy of France and the Kansas seemed a cinch to compete against the Soviets in July.

Coach Timmons in stating that Ryun would run in today's half-mile and Saturday's mile, as well as on a mile relay team, complained: "This kills the kids. It's unfair to them. I don't understand this at all. There is not going to be any national team. They are all here."

State Entries Are Defeated

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Three John Brown University players were defeated in Thursday's action in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics tennis tournament.

Reiny Maier of Whitwater, Wis., State beat Don Simpson of JBU 6-1, 6-1; Jim Gosses of California Western defeated Norman Tysler of JBU 6-0, 6-2 and Lornie Kuhle of California Western stopped JBU's Jerry Behnkien 6-4, 6-1.

Behnkien and Tysler also lost their first round doubles match to Dick Johnson and Mike Pierotti of Albuquerque 6-3, 6-2.

Miss Paragould Is Selected

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP) — Karla King, a 123-pound hazel-eyed brunette, reigned today as Miss Paragould, winning the title Thursday night from 10 other contestants.

Miss King, 5-foot-7½, will represent the city in the Miss Arkansas Pageant this summer. The sophomore at Arkansas State Teachers College is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl King. Her measurements are 37-23-36.

First runner-up honors went to Mary Ann Satterwhite, 19, the reigning Miss Greene County. Sherry Lamb, 19, was selected as second runner-up.

If a man weighing 150 pounds on the earth could be carried to the sun, he would weigh nearly two tons.

Bitter Rivals Top Teams in NCAA Meet

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — When the 20th annual NCAA college world series opens in Omaha Monday, two conferences that are bitter rivals will put the No. 1 and No. 2 rated teams on the field.

In the No. 1 spot in the final regular season ratings of the newspaper, College Baseball, was Southern California of the Western Conference. In the No. 2 spot was Ohio State of the Big 10.

Still on the oddity side, the conferences have the same 1 and 2 rating in number of titles won by individual schools. Southern Cal has four and Minnesota of the Big 10 has three.

Only once have teams from the two conferences met in a series title game and that went to the Big 10 as Minnesota beat Southern Cal 2-1 in 1960.

Southern Cal and Ohio State are both in the same bracket this year and open play Monday night against highly regarded opponents.

Southern Cal meets North Carolina, the team that ousted Florida State, then rated No. 2 in district play, thus enabling Ohio State to move up in the rankings.

Ohio State takes on Oklahoma State, a former series champion and representative of the Big 8, the home territory of Omaha fans.

The mystery team in the series is Northeastern University of Boston. This is Northeastern's first appearance in the series and Coach John Connelly is bringing a team on which he had placed a .500 label at the start of the season.

Opening play Monday will be Texas and Arizona at 11 a.m. CST. Northeastern meets another Eastern entry, St. John's, at 2 p.m. The night games are at 6 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.

Jay Sharp for Reds; Giants Edge Houston

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joeey Jay flourished in Philadelphia's hot and humid Connie Mack stadium and Jam Davenport didn't do so badly in the air conditioned comfort of Houston's Astrodome.

Operating in completely opposite climates Thursday night, Jay pitched a sharp five-hitter as Cincinnati beat Philadelphia 1-0 while Davenport's 11th inning double drove in two runs and lifted San Francisco to a 3-1 victory over Houston.

Jay perspired freely in the steamy atmosphere against the Phillies, but seemed to thrive on the heat.

"I guess I lost about 10 pounds," said the strong right-hander who won his sixth game in eight decisions.

Leo Cardeans drove home the only run Jay needed with an eighth inning single and then grabbed Dick Groat's hot grounder behind second and turned it into a game-ending double play in the ninth.

Davenport, who broke up a 17-inning game against New York with a homer earlier this season, delivered his big double to snap a tie that had existed since the fifth inning and beat Jim Owens, Houston's third pitcher.

Elsewhere in the National League, Atlanta stretched its winning streak to six games with an 8-4 victory over New York and St. Louis downed Pittsburgh 4-2.

Rivalry Unresolved

WESTBURY, L.I. (NEA) — The rivalry between Bret Hanover and Cardigan Bay, the two greatest pacers in the world, has jacked up interest in harness racing enormously. Not that it needed much stimulation, judging by the minked set that jams such emporiums as Roosevelt Raceway.

It's the kind of sport where age is no great factor. The driver of Bret Hanover, who has his own cheering section and fan club, is Frank Ervin, a crusty old Missourian (out of Sedalia) who admits he's 61 years old.

And when you ask Frank how long a man should be permitted to sit in one of those sulkies that are dragged along by the pacers and trotters, he says, "They should have a law that makes 'em retire by the age of 60." Where would that put you, Frank? "In a rocking chair, where I probably belong."

Ervin has been driving since 1920, or a total of 46 years and he calls Bret Hanover the greatest pacer ever, though the issue with Cardigan Bay is unresolved.

After Ervin's horse beat Cardigan Bay in the $50,000 "Revenge" at Roosevelt Raceway, he was asked if he considered it vindication for the defeat in their first meeting at Yonkers. "I don't think it's a good word," he said. "In the first place, I don't know whether I understand it."

And when queried about the basic satisfaction he derives from driving the money he wins or the winning itself, Frank said bluntly, "Money mostly. That's what I'm in business for." Business is good. Bret Hanover has won $675,000 in his short career.

Infielder Jim Davenport of the San Francisco Giants, a vital contributor to their league-leading spurt, has already asked skipper Herman Franks if he can also try his hand at catching next year. . . . figuring it would add a couple of years to his career, a la Don Zimmer.

Frank Beard, the fourth leading money winner on the tour, credits a lot of his strong showing to matrimony (at the age of 26, he's already won three big PGA tournaments, including this year's New Orleans Open). "I'll be honest," Frank says. "I was skeptical at first about being married and playing the tour. But I find it settles you down; it gives you a sense of responsibility you might not have had before, at least consciously."

The golfers are always twitting Arnie Palmer about the time he spends tinkering and tooling his clubs. "If he had to charge himself for the time he spends working on his clubs," said Doug Sanders, "he'd go bankrupt." Aussie Peter Thomson put it more pithily: "He's always beating on his blooming clubs."

Between you and me, John Meem Jr., the Houston oil millionaire who's getting deeply involved in auto racing (he had the winner at Indianapolis), is almost a cinch to wind up owning a pro football franchise, too. His interest stems from the time he played freshman football at Oklahoma. And John, who could wind up owning a team in either New Orleans or the Astrodome, sounds as if home town Houston is his first choice. He doesn't think the incumbent Oilers are a stable franchise as long as Bud Adams ("an old friend") is running them.

Life in Arkansas

By J. C. TILLMAN
Associated Press Writer

For many Arkansans, summer life is a procession of guests stopping over in travel through the state, or just coming to visit.

The visits gave both natives and transplanted Arkansans a chance to show off the state. This can become a complicated thing, if the guests suddenly take a notion to stay in a state park for a while.

Suddenly is the key word. It is sheer madness after the first thaw to attempt finding a cabin at one of these places on 12-hour notice. But it is not unpleasant to try to do so.

"They can think of more pleasant ways to tell you they're full-up," commented one visitor.

Camping spaces are much easier to come by than cabins. After telling one couple the park cabins were full, a man suggested they rent a tent and take one of the camping spots.

"Just come on in and set up," he said. "If nobody meets you, come on in in the morning and pay."

They didn't go that particular camp, but found a similar attitude at another one.

No one met them, so they proceeded to set up camp. The next morning a tourist-looking type strolled by and struck up a conversation. After several minutes of casual talk, spiced with queries about the campers' welfare, he mentioned that he was with the park and could collect their $1 fee if they didn't want to go to the office.

A young visitor from a much warmer climate didn't appear perturbed by 90-degree weather in a visit to the state this summer—until her older brother who was listening to a radio told her, "Whew, its 90 degrees!"

She stopped her playing, eyed him and asked, "Is that sweating hot?"

The scenery in other states wasn't attractive enough to keep one Arkansan occupied.

In a 5½-hour drive through parts of two neighboring states, he compiled these statistics: Cars met, 1,535. Cars passed, 84. Cars that passed him, 10.

A winning player must know how to bid and play but there is an extra requisite which is generally described as the "feel of the table." The man with this characteristic almost never loses a two-way finesse. He just seems to know which opponent holds that missing card. On defense he finds the killing leads and plays. Most important of all, in competitive situations he knows when to sacrifice, and when to gamble that he can set his opponents.

There is nothing remarkable about North's pass to four hearts. Most players would know that they could not make five diamonds but would not bother to take the sure loss that would result from a five-diamond bid.

North passed for an entirely different reason. The game was rubber bridge and he felt certain that he would only go down two tricks at five diamonds doubled. This would merely be a 200-point loss because he held 100 honors, but North passed because he had some hope of beating the heart game. Why take any loss when you don't have to? North started his campaign to beat four hearts by opening his singleton spade. West saw what North was planning and tried to counteract by playing the ace and another trump, but this did him no good. North went right up with his king and underled the ace-king of diamonds. South found himself on lead with the queen and returned a spade to give North his ruff and the third defensive trick.

At this point North led a club and eventually declarer had to lose a trick in that suit also.

Blind 10 Years, Can See Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 90-year-old Russian princess, who was born in the White House and has been blind for 10 years, can see again.

She is Princess Cantacuzene, who was born Julia Grant, granddaughter of President Ulysses S. Grant.

She has lived alone in a Washington apartment for the past 10 dark years. She had no hope of ever seeing again.

Two weeks ago, the retina dropped in one eye, enabling her to see again. Doctors said they could not explain why her sight had suddenly returned in this way.

"I can't read," says Princess Cantacuzene, widow of a Russian prince, "I see color. I see people, but things are a little blurred. You can't imagine what it's like, to see again."

Dialing Easy With Direct System

When direct distance dialing comes to Hope and Bodcaw on June 26, telephone users in this area will find that dialing a friend in Seattle, Wash., or Miami, Fla. is no more difficult than calling a friend who may live only three blocks away.

Frank Meeks, manager for Southwestern Bell — Arkansas said "People in this area should not have any trouble dialing their long distance calls direct. We think that after they dial a few DDD calls, they'll want to use DDD every time they make a station-to-station call."

Meeks explained the simple steps a telephone user takes in dialing a long distance call direct:

every town where it's been initiated.

"First dial the digit '1,' to gain access to the DDD equipment. This connects your telephone with the nationwide DDD network, and as we say, 'It puts the nation at your fingertips.'"

"Second, dial the three-digit area code for the city or locality you're calling. A list of area codes for most cities in the United States is in the front of your Hope Telephone book, so you can look up the correct area code very easily."

"Third dial the complete distant telephone number, just like you were dialing a telephone number here in Hope and Bodcaw."

In just a few seconds, the telephone you want will ring and you have completed your DDD call when the other party answers."

The manager pointed out that direct distance dialing has been a very popular innovation in ect very quickly."

Calls requiring special handling — such as credit card calls, calls billed to a third number, collect calls, and person-to-person calls — cannot be dialed direct, of course, Meeks reminded nor any calls from coin telephones.

Poles Relations With Church Better

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Poland's Communist government says relations between it and the Roman Catholic Church can improve if Catholics follow men like Archbishop Boleslaw Kominek instead of Stefan Cardinal Wysinski.

Identical editorials Wednesday in Warsaw Life and the army paper Soldier of Freedom accused the cardinal of disrupting church-state relations and of being incapable of normalizing them.

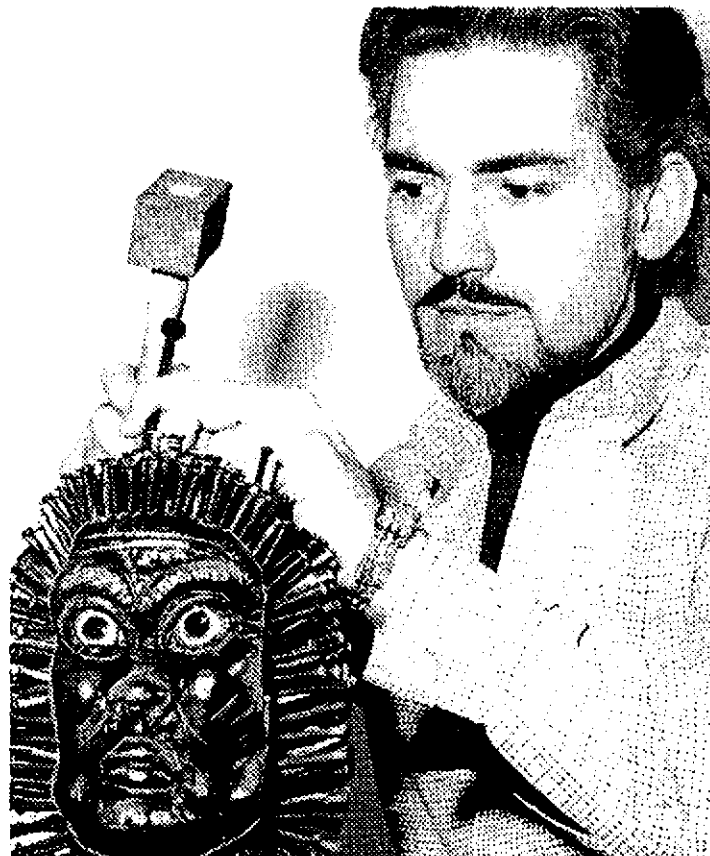

PanAm Wants a Moscow Flight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Pan American World Airways says it has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board for authority to fly from San Francisco to Moscow, via Tokyo.

Pan Am has for years been certified to fly from New York to Moscow, contingent upon a bilateral air agreement between the two countries. There has been a big increase in air service to Moscow by Western airlines in recent years. Japan and the U.S.S.R. recently signed an agreement on a trans-Siberian route.

WORLD'S LARGEST COMPUTER

Starting June 26, You Can Activate The Largest Computer in the World

How would you like to operate the world's largest computer?

"Who, me? I can't do that," you might say.

But you can operate the world's biggest computer, starting June 26, and we know you'll not only find it easy but will enjoy doing it.

This computer is your new Direct Distance Dialing system, which will be in operation in Hope and Bodcaw starting June 26. The telephone in your own home or business will be your "computer activator," since it provides you with access to the nationwide DDD system.

At your command are millions of tubes, transistors and relays and thousands and thousands of miles of wire and cables, all bound together into one amazing electronic marvel we call DDD.

And although it was designed by a small army of the nation's finest scientific minds, and requires an even larger nationwide force of skilled telephone technicians to keep it going, it will require no technical training on your part to make it work.

Here's all you do to DDD a long distance call:

1. Dial "1." This "access code" connects your telephone with the DDD equipment—tells this mammoth computer you're about to use it.

2. Dial the three-digit "Area Code." This tells the computer the location of the geographic area of the nation you are calling.

3. Dial the distant telephone number. This rings the one specific telephone you want (out of 95 million you could call) and completes your call.

That's all there is to it. The telephone computer does the rest, and presto, you're talking to a friend or loved one across the state or across the nation.

How long does all this take? Just a few seconds.

Remember, DDD starts June 26 in Hope and Bodcaw, so get ready to operate the world's largest computer from the familiar and comfortable surroundings of your own home or business.

Sorghum-Maker Retiring—

Pleasant Plains, Ark. — One of this area's oldest business enterprises has been shut down and the equipment offered for sale.

Perhaps that bit of economic information is not as serious as it sounds, but it does constitute another example of changing times.

For the first time in 30 years, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Denniston failed to make use of their sorghum-making equipment last year, and now would like to dispose of their mills, pan and other items "at a bargain."

The equipment includes a modern gasoline-powered mill and a 12-foot copper pan. They also have a "No. 12 Chattanooga 1-horse" mill purchased from Barnett Brothers, Batesville, about 1935.

Mr. Denniston has no estimate of his total production during his 30 years in the business, but he does recall that 5,000 gallons was his best year. This total included 553 gallons made for one customer.

Incidentally, his work was altogether "custom"; in other words he ground cane and made molasses for others on a share basis. At first his "toll" was only 1/4, but in recent years he was forced to raise this to 1/2 in order to stay in business. Prices during the years have ranged from 85c to $2.50 per gallon, Mr. Denniston said.

When he began making molasses, he would move the mill from farm to farm and found only three varieties of sorghum cane: Georgia White, Ribbon and Honey Drop.

During later years it became necessary to make a permanent set-up at his farm located 1 1/4 miles west on Highway 87. He also began labeling his production and otherwise complying with State Health Department regulations.

Asked if he ever ground cane and made molasses from cane that had not been stripped of its blades, he said "Yes, I did, but when a customer brought unstripped cane my wife would go to the house and refuse to have anything to do with it." The unstripped cane of course lowered the quality of the molasses.

He recalls that he planted cane himself only twice during all the years, and each time was too busy making molasses for others to take care of his own crop.

Mr. and Mrs. Denniston reared three daughters, but indicated that they were never too interested in the sorghum-making enterprise; except perhaps to eat them as they came fresh from the pan. — Wilson Powell in the Batesville Guard

One Killed, 4 Hurt in Crash Near Goshen

GOSHEN, Ark. (AP)— Linda Sizemore, 18, of the Knob Hill Community near Springdale was killed Thursday and four others injured when a pickup truck plunged into a branch of Brush Creek three miles north of here.

Deputy Sheriff Morris Southard of Washington County said four injured girls, all from Bald Knob, were taken to a Springdale hospital. He identified them as Betty Bowdery, 15, the driver; Rita Sizemore, 15; Peggy Whittle, 15, and Sue Whittle Sizemore.

Marion Beeks of Prairie Grove, fishing on the bank of the creek with his wife, said they jumped out of the way as the truck plunged about 200 feet into the water.

He said one girl jumped out as the truck went into the water and that the others swam to the surface after the truck submerged. They said they were unable to rescue the dead girl.

School to Get Title to Old Post Office

Supt. James H. Jones has been notified by the Department of Public Health and Welfare that School District 1-A's application of May 12 for title of the old Hope Post Office has been "evaluated and approved."

Lay in a Fresh Supply of Doubletalk Along With Swim Trunks, Tan Lotion

NEW YORK (AP)—You need more than a bottle of suntan lotion and a new pair of swimming trunks to get you through the summer successfully.

Above all, you must be sure to lay in a fresh supply of doubletalk.

There are hundreds of tested examples of summer doubletalk that should carry you coolly through any crisis, no matter how heated the temperature.

Here are a few, followed by their literal translations: "Where did you get that marvelous tan, Jim?" It looks like it had been poured out of a bourbon bottle.

An additional 12,000 square feet of space will be available for smaller shops.

Boyce Would Cut Spending Considerably

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Sam Boyce attacked what he called unnecessary expenses in night and said his programs state government Thursday may "permit a possible tax reduction."

Boyce, a 34-year-old prosecutor from Newport, is one of eight candidates seeking the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

In a televised speech, Boyce said that by making better use of state funds it would be possible to reduce state taxes while increasing the effectiveness of state services.

This can be achieved, he said by holding the line against "unnecessary tax spending and unwarranted expansion of state agencies."

These two things have been ignored too long, he said, pointing to two controversial expenditures of state money as examples of the unnecessary expenses he would eliminate.

They were the use of the governor's emergency fund to pay debts of the Arkansas Horse Show Association and a fund to provide $500 a year pensions for some members of three state commissions.

Rules Voter Can Register in Any County

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—They ruled that a person does not have to actually live in the county in which he registers to vote.

Determination of legal residence for voting, said an opinion by Asst. Atty. Gen. William P. Thompson, is a matter of intent. A person is a resident of the place where he "intends" to live even though he may not be there physically.

The opinion went to Cleveland County Clerk Bob Hall, who said he had been refusing to register persons who did not actually reside in the county.

Many former residents of Cleveland County have paid the poll tax and voted there while residing elsewhere.

Hall said that, in the light of anyone who contends he has not abandoned his Cleveland County residence.

Hall said he would do this even though he believes the opinion is in conflict with Amendment 51, the voter registration amendment.

Johnson Hits at Power Politics

By JOHN R. STARR

Associated Press Writer

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP)—Jim Johnson staged his formal campaign opening before an enthusiastic hometown audience Thursday night with a familiar attack on the political power structure and a fresh discussion of industrialization.

Only about 400 persons—less than half of capacity—turned out to hear the former state senator and Supreme Court justice who is one of either Democratic candidates for governor.

But most of those present were vigorous Johnson supporters and they made up in enthusiasm what they lacked in numbers.

Applause erupted sporadically throughout Johnson's 30-minute speech, which was taped for broadcast on television tonight.

The main target of Johnson's attack was again William J. Smith, legal advisor to Gov. Orval Faubus and the man Johnson calls the mastermind of the power bloc which runs state politics.

Sheppard to Trial for 2nd D. Murder

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Samuel H. Sheppard will be retried on a second-degree murder charge in the 1954 bludgeoning slaying of his first wife, Marilyn, Prosecutor John T. Corrigan said today.

Sheppard already has served nine years in prison on a second-degree murder conviction by a Cuyahoga County Common Pleas jury Dec. 21, 1954. He has been free on $10,000 bond since July 16, 1964, while appealing on grounds he did not receive a fair trial.

Faubus Plans to Visit Viet Nam

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus told a news conference Thursday that he plans to go to Viet Nam to look into the morale of soldiers, their support in the field, and to determine whether they are being properly supplied.

He will go on behalf of President Johnson, Faubus said, as well as for his own evaluation. Faubus said he would have already gone if he had not become ill recently with a sinus infection.

Alma's Might Fades, Leaving 47 Deaths

VALDOSTA, Ga. (AP)—The remnant of Hurricane Alma, her might diminished after hitting the Florida Panhandle, is splashing through Georgia today.

The National Hurricane Center in Miami predicted rains up to eight inches along a wide path from Georgia to the Carolinas. The center warned of possible flooding.

Tornado-like winds apparently churned by Alma's dwindling strength were reported in several parts of Georgia.

But Alma no longer met hurricane standards with winds of 75 miles per hour or more. Her highest winds were estimated at 70 m.p.h., and reported ebbing.

The early-season monster from the tropics, charged with 47 deaths in three nations, was reported moving northeastward from near Valdosta about 12 miles per hour.

Alma roared into the Florida Panhandle Thursday with winds estimated at 100 miles per hour.

Some houses were damaged and pecan trees uprooted when high winds with characteristics of a tornado lashed a rural section five miles northeast of Albany, Ga.

Another windstorm, also possibly a small tornado, struck west of Augusta, Ga., blowing away a tool shed and nearly unroofing a home.

Eleven soldiers were hospitalized at Fort Gordon near Augusta, Ga., when a bus overturned on wet pavement.

The storm's 47 fatalities represented 35 deaths in Honduras, near where the storm spawned with torrential rains last Monday; seven in Cuba, and five in Florida.

Officials have not made any estimate of damage to Florida. Damage to crops in food rationed Cuba was believed considerable. Tobacco, once Cuba's second important commodity, next to sugar, was reported a heavy casualty in western Cuba.

Fidel Castro made an inspection tour of stricken areas near Havana and ordered speedy reconstruction.

King Leaves, Mississippi March Falter

By BOB GILBERT

COMO, Miss. (AP)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., whose presence has been a magnet to the Negroes marching through Mississippi, was gone from the head of the line today. But he promised to return immediately if the demonstration loses any impetus.

James H. Meredith, who originated the "march against fear" Sunday — and was wounded by birdshot and hospitalized the next day — said in New York he will be on the road again June 16 if his doctor permits. A civil rights group in Baltimore said it would join, too, after a rally Sunday.

"It is my belief from the warm reception received along the road, both in Tennessee and Mississippi, that my walk may have done something to alleviate the heavy burden of fear which rests upon Mississippi Negroes," Meredith said in a statement read to newsmen by a minister.

James Farmer, former director of the Congress of Racial Equality who walked with the group Thursday, told the 300 or more who participated:

"If the blood of James Meredith is not to be wasted, every Negro that can put one foot in front of another and lift a hand to a pen must register and vote."

Meredith, 33, had covered 27 miles on the 22-mile walk from Memphis to Jackson, Miss., when he was shot near Hernando. He was trying to show that if a controversial Negro could walk unmolested down a Mississippi highway, other Negroes should not fear to register as voters.

The man charged with shooting Meredith, Aubrey James Norvell, 40, of Memphis, still is jailed unable to make $25,000 bond.

King and the others who took up the hike Tuesday added 21 miles the first three days relatively undisturbed. King was an obvious attraction to many of the marchers who flocked around him whenever he stopped.
